Remand to hospital for assessment

Your name:

Your doctor's name:

Hospital name:

Date you came to hospital

Why am I in hospital?

The Court has said you can be kept here under Section 35 of the Mental Health Act.

A doctor has told the court that you need to be in hospital so that a report can be made on your mental health.

How long will I stay in hospital?

This may be up to 28 days starting from the date on which your order was made.

You must not leave during this time unless your doctor says you can.

If you try to go you can be stopped

If you leave you can be brought back.

You might also be arrested by a police officer and taken back to court.

What happens next?

At the end of the time specified by the court your doctor will let the court know whether you need more treatment

The court can remand you for another 28 days but for no more than 12 weeks.

It can do this without you being in court, as long as you have a solicitor to speak on your behalf.

What treatment will I be given?

Your doctor and nurse will talk to you about any treatment they think you will need.

You can refuse any treatment you do not want.

Only in special circumstances can be given treatment you do not agree to.

Can I appeal?

You can ask the court to look at your case again.

You will need help from a solicitor.

Your nurse will help you do this.

Help from an independent mental health advocate

You can ask an advocate for help. An advocate is a person not involved in your case who will help you:

- get information
- help you to understand your treatment
- help you tell your doctor or nurse how you are feeling
- talk to other people for you, on the ward or in meetings.

If you would like to speak to an advocate please tell your nurse.

Your letters

You can get letters while you are in hospital.

You can send letters to anyone except someone who has said they do not want to get letters from you.

How do I complain?

Speak to your nurse who will help you complain to the right person.

You can also write to the Care Quality Commission.

Your nurse will give you a leaflet explaining more.
