Dr	Sarah	Dexter-Smith	Director of Therapies	13.03.2020	With a colleague we have published a book based on work we have done in TEWV. This has been agreed up front with the CEO and the management of the rights/ content/ income is formally agreed and set up within the contract with the publisher SAGE. Given that the book is based on work that has had a beneficial impact for service users in the trust, it is likely that parts of the service will want to buy the book.	My TEWV links with ThinkOn are managed very carefully due to the potential for this to happen. There is the potential I might do some (non-Health) related work with the voice coach who we have recently used for staff development.	None	I have used Audrie Woodhouse to provide some coaching and public speaking workshops. As a result of that we have discussed working together on some non nhs work together but that has not developed yet and hasn't changed what we use her for in the trust.

Dr	Sarah	Jordan	Clinical Psychologist North Yorkshire & York C&YPS	20.03.2020	Leeds University have invited me to teach on the Doctorate of Clinical Psychology course since 2012 on a private basis. Alongside my job within NHS CAMHS I am wanting to work therapeutically with people across the lifespan on a private basis in my own time. I am initially using annual leave to offer some sessions at York eco business centre and I am seeking prior approval before embarking on this new work in accordance with 11.11 within the Conflicts of Interests Policy. In order to mitigate against a conflict of interest arising I will not work with people on a private basis that are patients within CAMHS or who are on CAMHS waiting lists as I am aware a conflict of interest is more likely to arise. I understand I may offer similar evidence based assessments and interventions that I do within the NHS for people living in areas outside of the geographical patch that York CAMHS covers. I will not use NHS time or resources to promote my private practice for potential financial gain. Where there is a potential of conflict of interest my NHS work will always take precedence. I will not initiate discussions about providing private professional services for NHS patients.	None	None	None

TEWW does not pay me for any of this either directly or indirectly. At the moment I regularly supervise a number of staff from around the country and abroad on their clinical work relating to trauma or compassion or EMDR. Some of this is paid for by their employer (only one is NHS) and some by the individual. I have an ongoing legal case that I provide reports for relating to abuse and psychosis. The client is not in TEWW. I have agreed that I may provide more assessment reports for other clients if they are not TEWW clients. These would be referred from the Pottergate Centre in Norwich. I have occasional work relating to supervision/ coaching/consultancy for wider system change projects, leadership development or trauma informed care. These are sometimes NHS Trusts. I have plans to run a private compassionate mind training group for the public which will likely be held in Tyneside. I have held positions or have links with the UK trauma and abuse group; European society for trauma and dissociation; Psychotherapy section of the BPS; international society for the psychological and social treatment of schizophrenia; compassionate mind foundation; compassionate wellbeing. These may ask me to run training or workshops for them, sometimes these are paid. There are four paid trainings/ retreats that are likely to happen this year. I am intending to start writing a book on compassion this year and have another drafted on trauma (which if published is contracted to be part of ISPS book series with a small royalty). I also have a private art practice and may take part in art events/ exhibitions.	None	None	None
Dr	Juliette	Kennedy	Consultant Psychiatrist North Yorkshire & York C&YPS	18.03.2020	None	I am editor of "The bridge" .he Bridge, is a publication of ACAMH The magazine is read by practitioners (mainly psychologists and psychiatrists) working in child and adolescent mental health, it publishes research summaries/highlights and occasionally reports on relevant intervention programmes, support networks etc. The articles are not peer-reviewed but edited by Dr. Juliette Kennedy, child and adolescent psychiatrist. The research highlights published in The Bridge are basically summaries of the papers published in our peer reviewed journals - The Journal of Child Psychology and Psychiatry, and Child and Adolescent Mental Health. They have a more accessible language and information format and have been well received and read. The original papers have received additional attention due to the summaries. More importantly, the research is also reaching a much wider audience who wouldn't have necessarily read the original paper. An edition is produced monthly and I receive a small honorarium for my editorship role	None	None	None
